

SILVER Sponsor

iTernity is a leading vendor for storage-related archiving software that allows companies and organizations of all sizes to protect application data independent of their storage environment without worrying about vendor locks. The company's mission is to provide solutions for future-proof data management within heterogeneous storage and cloud infrastructures. Including the benefits of software defined data replication and immutability, continuous data self-healing and policy driven data retention.